

Bed of a glacier in retreat

The level of the house of the town is at the level that had the glacier, which has in retreat

Icebergs resulting from glacial calving

In the photograph you can see a white and a black iceberg. The black color is because it is covered by soil and microorganisms

This photograph shows a ladder that has been added where the glacier existed and is now used to go down to the uncoveres bed of the melting glacier

Different types of glaciers resulting from the calving process, floating in the bay